

Assigning a comic strip series title – 2021-03-30

Notes:

- Naming convention for comic strips: [Series Title]. [Individual Title]
- If there is no Series Title, simply list individual title.
- With early comic strips, there was not always a series title, e.g. Bugville and Buster Brown. In such cases, enter the uniform title in Alternative Title and proceed to the next flowchart, Assigning a comic strip individual title.

Assigning a comic strip individual title – 2021-03-30

Examples:

- Individual comic strip without a series - Bring Back Those Shoes (<https://hdl.handle.net/1811/b10bf0dd-3046-45da-83bd-842b1bb56c21>)
- Comic strip with individual title provided on item - Alley Oop. A Dizzy Sock! (<https://hdl.handle.net/1811/fe6415b2-af9a-4b22-a594-c911e132d858>)
- Comic strip with individual title from speech balloon - Beetle Bailey. "What did I do wrong now?" (<https://hdl.handle.net/1811/edc5c5aa-b159-449a-aa21-990ea5cc387e>)
- Comic strip with derived individual title based on action - The Ambassador. Helping a woman (<https://hdl.handle.net/1811/abef3e35-3f47-4881-892a-f467007c70b5>)
- Multiple comic strips by same creator in one record - Jungle Jim. Jim has rescued a girl who was being brutally questioned by two men. / Flash Gordon. "Flash, you're safe here, as a guest of Trico, King of the underground." (<https://hdl.handle.net/1811/c8f99de8-2228-48b6-83de-f670bb66da50>) - Note: The Jungle Jim strip has an individual title printed on the item. Whereas, the Flash Gordon comic strip has an individual title derived by the first speech balloon.